Copyediting Fiction for Traditional Publishers

Amy J. Schneider ~ Featherschneider Editorial Services
www.featherschneider.com
Even the best writers need editing . . .

PEANUTS

those years in Paris were to be among the finest of her life.

Looking back, she once remarked, "Those years in Paris were among the finest of my life." That was what she said when she looked back upon those years in Paris.

where she spent some of the finest years of her life.

I think this is going to need a little editing...
General considerations

- Author
- Publisher
- Genre
- Audience
The copyeditor’s focus

- Spelling, grammar, punctuation: sure! But also. . .
  - Suspension of disbelief
  - Internal consistency
  - Author’s voice
  - Reader’s enjoyment
Getting Started
an overview
You have the manuscript; now what?

- Manuscript: ready, set, go!
- Publisher house style
- Previous style sheet, if provided
- You are ready for the first pass!
First pass: get the bonbons . . .

- Just read it!
- No style decisions
- Fix absolute errors only
- Flag for later; make mental notes
- Note the level of detail
Second pass: the Big Edit

- Main word-by-word copyedit pass
- Compile style sheet(s) as you go
- Considerations:
  - Spelling/grammar/punctuation/etc.
  - Characters, locations, timeline/plot
  - Dialogue
  - Fact vs. fiction
  - Queries: Be tactful!
Third pass: tidying up

- Deflagging passes
- Template (if using)
- Final spelling/consistency check
- Save final file
- Clean up and format style sheet(s)
File Management

or, staying organized
Managing the manuscript

- Stash the original
- Separate folders: Original, Working, Final
- Save after each chapter
- If no chapter numbers, add some!
Managing the style sheet(s)

- Four categories; I keep separate docs (YMMV)
  - 1 general style sheet.doc
  - 2 characters.doc
  - 3 places.doc
  - 4 timeline.doc
- Incorporate author notes
- Previous style sheet?
Series style sheet(s)

- Update/add to previous style sheet(s)
- Identify info from previous books
- Compare/update as you go
  - Amazon “Look Inside”
  - Previous facts cannot be altered!
- Note “(series style)”/“(au pref)”
Style Sheets

or, the nuts and bolts
Time: six forty-five, 9:00 p.m., oh five hundred

Height: five foot three, six-six

Dates: August 4 (narrative), but August fourth (dialogue)

Room numbers: room 1156, treatment room one

Numbers in dialogue: Call 911!, back in 1865

Addresses/street numbers: 12 Royal Ave., No. 4 Primrose Lane, Forty-fifth Street
Ellipses:
“But . . . ,” she said.

Color terms:
a sea[-]green dress, her dark blue eyes

Commas around too/either/anyway:
I love you, too; me, either

Exclamations:
Oh[,] God! / Oh[,] no!
But Oh, stop it! / Oh, Cliff, what will we do?

Possessives of names ending in –s
(especially plurals: the Sanderses’ house)
Generally, italic for “not real” exchanges: internal thought, remembered dialogue, telepathic communication:

Fluffy meowed as if to say, Feed me!

Words as words:

the word bumfuzzled

Words as sounds:

the clank-clunk of his walker

Letters as letters:

the envelope marked with a B

Letters as shapes:

the buildings formed a U shape
Signs, handwriting, text messages, e-mails, inscriptions, clothing:

- a NO SMOKING sign
- My phone vibrated. r u ok? call me
- I began reading the letter. Dear Tyler, she wrote...

Terms of address:

- in place of a name: Detective, Officer, Your Ladyship
- generic: pumpkin, sweetheart, my lord

Epithets:

- Miss High-and-Mighty, Cowboy Guy
General style sheet: Miscellaneous

- Publication names, organization names, other proper nouns that don’t fit elsewhere
  - Witch Watch (blog)
  - Channel Nine (TV station)
  - Clan Willow; the Willow clan
- Wines, magic spells, events, weapons
  - Fall Folk Art Festival (October)
- Group by category
General style sheet: Word list

- Unusual plurals/spellings/capitalizations: the Force, Earth Mother, Lust-love
- Variant word forms: dreamed/dreamt, leaped/leapt, toward
- Invented words and terms: Jedi (sing/pl), a Jedi knight; anima-spark
- Dialogue forms woulda, don’tcha, whadja, a’course, idjit, if’n
- Sounds hmm, uh-uh/uh-huh, shh, oohs and aahs, mmphf
Character style sheet

- Avoid alphabetical lists!
- Group by affiliation
- Animals are characters too

  "Josie": liver-and-white springer spaniel

- Inanimate objects, deities, sentient objects
- Unnamed characters

  barman: graying hair, mustache
Character style sheet (cont.)

- Physical descriptions
  - blue eyes, pointed ears, 6 feet tall
- Right/left (scars, injuries, tattoos, etc.)
  - shot in left thigh; missing his right eye
- Ages/birthdays
  - just turned 24; her brother is 2 years older
- Relationships
  - was married twice; has a brother and a sister
  - mother died when she was a year old
Character style sheet (cont.)

- Education, employment
  - PhD from Harvard; has been a CPA for 8 years
- Abilities, personal history, activities, habits
  - empath; has never left the country
  - avid golfer; favorite drink is rum and Coke
- Phone numbers, e-mail and postal addresses, etc.
- Negative attributes
  - can’t swim, hates cigarette smoke, afraid of dogs
What if you find a contradiction?

- Bryan 8 times, Brian 3 times
- Luna grew up with a brother in the previous book in the series, but in this book she was an only child

Suggest fixes, if possible
SAMPLE ENTRY

Joseph (Joe) Longworth
age 34; curly brown hair; freckles; blue eyes, thin lips; wire-rimmed glasses missing left arm below the elbow has one older brother grew up on an island in the South Pacific was stabbed in the upper right thigh has known Elsa since she was a toddler
Places style sheet

- Avoid alphabetizing (again)
- Group by relation/location
- Check against reality
- How much detail should you record?
Cardinal directions:
- 5 miles south of the border
- the morning sun streamed through the window

Proper nouns:
- the Waldorf Building, the village of Snodsbury

Right/left:
- there’s a bathroom on the right

Business hours, regular events:
- the gift shop is closed on Mondays
- soccer practice every Wednesday at 6 pm
Décor:
  a green velvet sofa under the window
Structure:
  creaky wooden floors; an old screen door
Number of floors/locations of rooms:
  Jack’s bedroom on the 3rd floor
    (up 2 flights of stairs)
Watch out for British usage!
  ground floor, then first floor
Places style sheet: Exteriors

- Architecture:
  2-story house; a wraparound porch with 3 steps
- Landscaping:
  5 large oak trees
- Navigation:
  on the corner of Park and 11th
  they turned right onto Main Street
- Geography:
  the mountains to the south;
- Distances:
  a 10-minute walk, 50 miles to the airport
Places style sheet (cont.)

- SAMPLE ENTRY:

  Reynaud’s studio
  in Crystal Falls; on a dead-end street; converted warehouse main workroom is huge, roughly twice as long as it is wide south end: windows face the woods
  east end: storage rooms
Timeline style sheet

- My pref: calendar page
- Historical events, actual dates
- Slack time
- Breaks in the action
- Parallel timelines, flashbacks
Timeline style sheet (cont.)

- Any mention of time, fixed or relative:
  - midmorning;  3 weeks later; at sunset every Friday;  the week of Martinmas
- Weather, moon phases, seasons:
  - starting to rain;  full moon;  crisp fall air
- School days, workdays:
  - “No video games on a school night!”
  - the bustle of morning commuters
Timeline style sheet (cont.)

- Critical plot events:

  “The auction is a week from Friday!”

- Character ages/birthdays, whether relative or absolute (can be flexible here, but query large discrepancies):

  I had just turned twenty-seven (what time of year?)

  Cole was born last fall

- Watch for “missing” holidays and big events, if their absence is remarkable (depends on genre)
SAMPLE ENTRY:

MONDAY

(Ch. 1) story begins; January
(2) Alison flies back to NYC
(2) later that evening
(2) full moon
The finer points
a balancing act
Food for thought . . .

“Truth is stranger than fiction, but it is because Fiction is obliged to stick to possibilities; Truth isn't.”

~ Mark Twain, Pudd’nhead Wilson’s New Calendar
The fine line

- Creative license vs. suspension of disbelief:
  - “Don’t mess with Art! Author reigns supreme!”
  - but
- Let the author know about potential problems
- Advocate for the reader too
Formal vs. informal structure

- Uneducated characters using $5 words
  - “I thought she sounded noncommittal”
  - “George’s mercurial behavior unsettled him”
- Authors make mistakes that characters would not make
- Breaking the rules
- Stay true to character/voice; don’t overcorrect!
Capitalization

- Unusual terms, especially in fantasy
  the Stone, Seeing/the Sight, NoonTide, She Warlord capped only for a specific person

- Religious terms
  pronouns for God: He or he?
  the Devil or the devil?

- Sun/sun, Moon/moon, Earth/earth, Universe/universe
Some publishers say “Don’t edit dialogue; query only”
Accents/elisions:
  yuh, ag’in; ’cause, ’em, ’er
Sounds:
  uh-huh (yes), uh-uh (no), mmm-hmm
Slang:
  geez, dammit/damn it, outta here
  whoop-de-do, helluva, young’uns
Interruptions (dashes) vs. pauses (ellipses)
Dialogue (cont.)

- Dialogue tags: verbs of saying

  she screamed, he muttered, I wheezed: YES
  I grimaced, she shuddered, he encouraged: NO

- Punctuation of tags

  “I never said that,” she said.
  “I never said that.” She frowned.
  “I don’t understand,” she said, and looked away.

- Speech interrupted with action/expressions

  “Hey”—he looked into her eyes—“I never wanted to hurt you.”
Adult themes

- Cuss/sexual words: ALWAYS on the style sheet
- Beware the –ass words: smartass, badass, big-ass, lazy-ass
- BuzzFeed Style Guide, Google Ngrams
- Don’t let Romeo take his pants off twice!
- It’s OK to turn down genres that disturb you
When fact and fiction collide

“I canna break the laws of physics, Cap’n!”
- looking out the window at night in a brightly lit kitchen

Anachronisms of both fact and language:
- a pro football game in June
- story set in late 1800s, character uses word dated 1915 in MW11

Deliberate obfuscation:
- non-intersecting streets, obscured locations
- query e-mails/phone numbers/etc.

Picture the action. Could it happen?
American vs. British style

- Punctuation: usually Americanized
- Spelling: usually Americanized, but sometimes retained to preserve a certain flavour
- British terms unfamiliar to Americans: is it clear in context?
Frequent fliers: language bloopers

- Pet phrases (query)
  he shoved his hands in his pockets; he tailed off
- Alliteration/rhyme/echo (query)
  squelching through a slough of snow and sludge
- Redundant body parts (can usually delete):
  nodded his head, shrugged his shoulders
  blinked/squinted his eyes
  glancing up at him from under her eyelids
Danglers/mixed metaphors:

Let’s bury the past and begin with a clean slate.

Watch for, but be mindful of voice, especially in dialogue:

- Misused subjunctive
- Misplaced either/only
- There is/are (often deadwood)
- Smothered verbs: made a decision > decided.
Frequent fliers: action bloopers

- “If a gun appears in Act One, it should go off by Act Three.”
- Similarly, “drop-in” characters
- Remembered inscriptions/speech: Do versions match?
- Missing scene breaks (space breaks for POV change)
- “As you know, Bob, . . .”
Frequent fliers: trademarks

- Publishers generally want to avoid legal issues
- Commonly encountered:
  - Styrofoam, Listserv, Realtor
  - Laundromat, Dumpster
  - Band-Aid, Kleenex, Coke
Queries: putting on the kid gloves

- Tact is your friend!
- Suggest fixes when possible

- “Perhaps change this word to _____?”
- “Did you perhaps mean ______? (Either is correct; just checking.)”
- “But in Ch. 2, ______. Is this a contradiction? Please clarify.”
- “Is [unusual word choice] intentional?”
- “Readers may be confused by this, because ______.”
“AU: Although the term ‘golf-tard’ does appear on the previous book’s style sheet, some readers may find it unnecessarily offensive coming from the lead character, because of its connection to the pejorative ‘retard.’ Perhaps change to the alternative term ‘golf-head,’ also on the style sheet?”
Let’s practice

“We’d been dating since sophomore year and he broke up with me at the start of our last semester of college. A month later I found out I was pregnant.”
Let’s practice

Gloria chuckled. “My sister had a baby last year. I got used to scouting out the bathroom for her everywhere we went.”
Let’s practice

Sasha and Anton’s apartment sat empty while they visited family in Russia.
Let’s practice

He towered over me. Not a tall order since I’m only five-two.
Let’s practice

I’d have to deal with it after the official meeting with my manager later today.
Let’s practice

She’d been planning to get a dog from the pound. Probably a big, goofy mutt.
Final thoughts . . .

- Be flexible
- Use your Spidey-sense
- Respect the author
- Serve the readers
- Have fun!

- Questions? amy@featherschneider.com
- Social media links:
  - www.featherschneider.com